Army of the Potomac.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, February 6.—The result of yesterday's engagement is that our lines have advanced beyond Hatcher's Run, the capture of 200 prisoners, a train of wagons and mules, with their drivers, and a considerable loss inflicted on the enemy in killed and wounded.

The cavalry under General Gregg captured the train at Dinsdale Court House while on its way to North Carolina, for supplies, the trip taking sixteen days for its accomplishment.

From this place scouting parties were sent in different directions, one of which went up the Hedgeswood road, where they found camps which had been deserted only a short time previous; and where they captured a few wagons of Peleg's division. In the meantime the rebel cavalry, stationed at Bedford, were ordered up to resist Gregg's advance, but the forces were not strong enough, and consequently no regular fight took place. About one hundred barrels of whisky were destroyed in the skirmish, but no army stores were found at any place which our troops had reached.

An order was issued posted up at Dinsdale Court House, appealing to the people to come forward and give all the supplies they could possibly spare to the Government, as both men and horses were suffering very much.

The loss in the division was only two or three during the day.

In the engagement of the Second corps, yesterday, at Hatcher's Run the loss was about seventy altogether, while that of the army is estimated at about three hundred.

BATTLING.—Feb. 6, 19. P. M.—Gave a severe engagement took place this P. M. between the Fifth Corps and the enemy, on the Dahlgren's Mill road, west of Hatcher's Run, the result of which was not favorable to us as far as position is concerned, but the enemy paid dearly for the ground he gained.

The Great Fire in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, February 8.—The fire here this morning originated in Blackburn & Co.'s shed for restoring refined oil in bond. Two thousand barrels have been destroyed. It was insured mostly in New York.

Forty-five dwellings and three stores are burned.

The oil that escaped from the burning barrels poured over into Ninth street and down to Federal street, filling the entire street with a lake of fire, and igniting the houses on both sides of Ninth street for two squares, and carrying devastation into Washington, Ellsworth and Federal streets, both above and below Ninth street. Fully five squares of houses, had they been placed in a row, were on fire at once. The scene was one to make the stoutest hearts quail. Men, women and children were literally roared alive in the streets. Capt. Joseph H. Ware, who occupied a dwelling in the vicinity, with his wife, five daughters and two sons, met with a sad misfortune. They all succeeded in getting into the street from the house just as they left their beds, but mournful relate, found themselves in a river of fire. The family became scattered. Mrs Ware had her youngest child, a beautiful little girl, in her arms, and was endeavoring to save her. She fell, when herself and little child, and another daughter, about fifteen years of age, were burned to death in the street, and their bodies were so horribly mangled that they can only be identified by the peculiar circumstances. Captain Ware and two sons escaped, but three daughters are missing. Six bodies in all have thus far been recovered. Three of them have been recognized as belonging to the Ware family. At other one of the bodies is supposed to be that of James Gibbons. There is also the body of a boy not yet recognized, and that of a girl. It is thought that several other persons perished, and that there are bodies still under the ruins.

DR. R. D. WYNKOOP, FOUNDED Pectoral.

DISSESSES of the throat, chest and pulmonary organs are ever prevalent, morbid and dangerous. The properties of a medicine to alleviate, cure and uproot these complaints, must be expectorant, sudore and purgative, and act on the mucous membranes of the throat, and impinging tons to remove excretions, and recovery in medical science ever mastered that class of disease like Dr. Wynkoop's Founds Pectoral. It is used with the most astonishing results in cases of bronchitis, asthma, whooping cough, pleurisy or pulmonary sore throat, rheumatism, dropsy, cough, colds, nervous irritability, &c.

The Rev. J. J. Potter writes that "I have used Dr. Wynkoop's Pectoral for several years, myself and my family, for severe pulmonary complaints, and have never been equalled." Rev. J. J. Potter, Mayor of Cincinnati and thousands of important testimonials could be produced, showing its remarkable cure and rapid recovery.

PLANTATION BITTERS

Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect.

They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and most superior to all other tonics where healthy, gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate; They create a healthy appetite;

They are an antidote to change of water and diet; They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours; They strengthen the system and enliven the mind; They prevent miasma and intermittent fevers; They purify the breath and solidity of the stomach; They cure dyspepsis and constipation;

They cure diarrhoea, cholera and cholera morbus;

They cure liver complaint and nervous headache;

They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calais bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum.
